

YLE (Youth Literacy Engagement) Session

Hosted by Councilwoman Erika L. Green

Today is the second of five YLE (Youth Literacy Engagement) Sessions to be held at Ryan Elementary. These sessions are a series of events, leading to the culminating 3rd Annual IWE Festival to be held Saturday, June 8th at Southern University A&M College.

We welcome families, caregivers, retired teachers, and youth to be involved in this initiative and gain useful literacy information during these YLE Sessions. Each session will be held at churches and schools in the community, and will create a working space to encourage literacy, including facilitated youth literacy activities, parent focus groups, literary competition, speakers, free book giveaway, and food. The sessions will provide workshops on Parenting Pillars of Cradle to K, and today will be a speaker segment with marketing manager and branding expert, Letrece Griffin, and Brandi Worley, author of the children's book, "Crumb Snatchers". We have one additional surprise for students that sign up for our New IWE Book Challenge!

The event is FREE and open to the public for ALL ages. We encourage everyone to attend.
